MACKIN COUNCIL

Thanks Her Delegates, Barry Council and Kentucky Irish American.

Mackin Council held a rousing and enthusiastic meeting Monday night at St. Cecilia's Hall, with President James Shelley presiding and all the chairs filled. The reports of Delegates Frank Murphy, Frank Adams and Fred Herp were received with much interest. They were proud of the showing made by Mackin Council in the Bluegrass capital and pleased with the ball and banquet, neither report detailed fully the work of the convention, which had already met with the approval of the membership of the entire jurisdiction. Speaking for the delegation, Frank Murphy told of the hospitality of Barry Council and the people of Lexing-Hannah Muldoon, who have been in ton, and stated that the delegates would not have felt right in leaving that beautiful city without electing John B. Shannon, who had done so much for the Y. M. I. Messrs. Murphy, Herp and Adams also commended the Kentucky Irish American for its enterprise and the full

BETTER CATHOLIC SCHOOLS. At the meeting of the Catholic

School Department of the Catholic Educational Association of the United States recently held in St. Louis distinguished educators, both cleric and lay, discussed how best to bring about greater uniformity of standards and methods in parochial schools and to encourage the organization of parish alumni and alumnae associations. Carefully prepared papers on these subjects were read and discussed, and the delegates from the several States were urged to bring the attention of the clergy and the Bishops to the importance of improving parish schools. The conference also viewed with satisfaction the movement in favor of the Catholic High School and the establishment of normal schools. As a means of creating a more refined | Citizen adds: social and intellectual Catholic atmosphere the conference recombrought out at this meeting that a million or more children are attending parish schools in the United

The rainstorms of August have inundated large tracts of country in County Donegal, and oats, potatoes and other crops, which promised exceedingly well, have been greatly damaged. Tullydish bridge and Newmills bridge have been carried away, and some live stock are missing. At Milfield the sudden rush of waters swamped game burrows and numbers of rabbits were drowned.

In Dublin the ceremony of unveiling the "'98" Newgate memorial, at St. Michan's Park, Green street, was performed in the presence of a large gathering of Irish Nationalists. The memorial onsists of a figure of Erin six feet high, in Irish limestone, with the wolf dog and broken Celtic cross at the base. The pedestal of the statue is of Irish granite, pearing medallion portraits of Lord Edward Fitzgerald and John and Henry Sheares on the front and side panels

A terrific waterspout occurred in the Buncrana district, resulting in fearful floods. Thousands of acres were under water, and cattle were caught by the floods and carried away. Never in the history of the oldest inhabitants had such floods been seen. It is feared that there will be a heavy loss of cattle, sheep, etc., which were grazing close to the river. The flood came down with fearful rapidity and the county road at Burnfoot was entirely covered with water and
